DISCO-ING IN GEORGE BLACKER

WHO PULLED GEORGE KAY's LEG?

In the June 1953 issue of the "Record Changer", George W. Kay published an article entitled "Those Fabulous Gennetts", in which he told how the Starr Piano Company was founded in 1872, and how it got into the phonograph and record business in the teens. I am not in a position to dispute the accuracy of everything he said in it, but there are a few things I'm a bit skeptical of.

1. Mr. Kay says Gennett leased or sold certain masters outright to Paramount, Vocalion and Okeh. He mentioned these three separately from a listing of the various English concerns to Whom Gennett shipped masters. Having seen the ledger, I can believe Gennett-recorded masters on Paramount, but Vocalion and Okeh? I'm from Missouri, especially as regards Okeh; if he meant English Vocalion, which used Gennett masters on Aco, I won't argue, but I have yet to encounter a Gennett master on American Vocalion.
2. Mr. Kay also says Gennett bought its recording equipment and a number of old masters from a bankrupt Boston concern. I'd been very skeptical indeed about that claim, but a recent discovery has wrought a slight alteration in my wondering. I have seen a sapphire-cut "Remington" record which was sold by Starr Piano Company, but whose masters are recognizably from Phono-Cut, which was originally produced by the Boston Talking Machine Company. Gennett used the "Remington" name later for lateral discs, but the label design was different. I may as well admit that I'd thought of Phono-Cut before, but dismissed it as a possibility because all the Starr and Gennett vertical-cut records I've seen have been diamond cut (i.e., Edison-type grooves), whereas all the Phono-Cuts I've ever encountered (and that Remington) were sapphire-cut (i.e., Pathé-type grooves). Let me digress here for just a moment and say that, in an effort to establish the terms in discographical nomenclature, I shall henceforth refer to vertical-cut discs as either sapphire or diamond cut; I hope further explanation won't be needed!....Reverting to the Gennett/Phono-Cut tie-in: has anyone ever seen a Phono-Cut master reissued on Gennett? If anyone has, I'd love to hear of it.
3. Mr. Kay recounts a charming little anecdote about Fred Gennett and Wendell Hall, the "Red-Headed Music Maker", presumably told by Fred Gennett himself. It goes this way: during August of 1922, a delegation of music dealers visited the Starr factory in Richmond. Following a guided tour of the plant, they were to be treated to a buffet luncheon in the salon of the administration building. Just as the dealers were about to hit the chow line, a rather bedraggled-looking skinny redhead walked in, introduced himself as Wendell Hall, the "Red-Headed Music Maker" and asked whether he could make a few records. Gennett explained that no recording was scheduled for that day because of the visitors. Then, noticing Hall's "lean, hungry look", he invited him to take pot luck with the other guests at the buffet--which Hall did gladly. Gennett then went to his office to catch up on some paperwork, and was deeply engrossed in this when, about an hour later, one of the dealers came to the office and said the red-headed guest was putting on a great impromptu after-dinner show with his homespun ditties, among them an amusing thing called "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'". Maybe it would be a good idea to let the kid make a few sides -- just for kicks. Fred returned to the dining area, caught a sample of Hall's work and agreed. The studio was hastily opened, and Hall spent the rest of the afternoon recording a slather of sides and signing a royalty contract. When he left town that evening, He took with him a test pressing of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'". A few days later, according to the story, he took the test pressing to Camden and on the strength of it, landed a $10,000.00 contract with Victor. Despite this, Fred Gennett had no complaints, as his company made a nice bundle on those sides Hall had cut in Richmond that afternoon.....An amusing tale, this, depicting a kindly act by the genial Hoosier phonograph and record magnate to a youthful aspirant to fame. There's a little catch to it, though: 'tain't so. The only Wendell Hall session listed in the Richmond master log sheets (no ledger sheets earlier than 12053 survive) took place on September 11, 1923, following a session by Justin Huber's Orchestra that produced three sides. Hall cut two masters: 11600, -A ("Old Folks' Blues") and 11601 ("Red Hot Blues"). Whoever had the job of entering the data on the master log sheets didn't even get the name right; he listed the artist as "Wylie Hall", but the correct name was pencilled in later. Hall showed up at Gennett's New York studio about two weeks later and cut two sides there: "Red-Headed Music Maker" and, predictably, "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'". So much for the "slather" of sides! I must admit there are several masters untraced from the period of August 1922: 11175 to 11177 and 11186 to 11192 (intervening masters by the N.O.R.K.), but if any of them were by Wendell Hall, AND if they were ever issued, they've never surfaced yet, as far as I know. Guess we'd better wash that one out, huh?

4. Mr. Kay added a table to that article in which he listed the numerical ranges of several blocks of Gennett masters cut elsewhere than in the New York or Richmond studios. I'll grant he could have been flummoxed in the matter of Wendell Hall, but I wonder how he could have got so many of the blocks of "field recordings" wrong, when he or Bill Grauer could easily have doublechecked them by referring to the ledger. For instance, Kay listed masters GEX 760-GEX 868 as having been cut in Birmingham, Alabama. According to the ledgers, the Birmingham sessions covered masters GEX 692-GEX 860. Similarly, Kay cited masters GEX 928-GEX 1033 as having been made in Richmond, whereas the ledger says this lot covered masters GEX 928-GEX 1036. He came a bit closer to the mark that time. Many others were goofed up in the same way.

One thing in that article proved helpful to me when I undertook the job of transcribing data from the old original master log sheets which Carl Kendziora got from Orrin Keepnews several years ago. These log sheets covered Richmond masters 11000-12052 and New York masters 7736-9120. The ledger contains full data on masters beyond 12053 and 9121. When I got to master 11527 in the Richmond log sheets, I ran smack into a gaping hole between that and 11552. Fortunately, that page was photographed for the "Changer" article, so I transcribed the data from the magazine. I do wonder what happened to the original sheet; it's quite obvious that nobody ever replaced it. Another question raised by those illustrations: what became of the Gennett master file cards, of which several were photographed? I've never seen any of them--anywhere, anytime. Nu?

The full story of how the Gennett master ledger came into my hands for copying a few years back and what happened subsequently is not without some interest -- at least to discographers. It's rather too long to tell here and now; if I get desperate in the future for subject matter, I may tell that story. Keep your No-Doz handy, gang!

ATLANTIC RECORDS A Discography

represents a new approach to the history recorded music. Most previous discographies of recent jazz and popular music have been devoted to individual artists, and are far from complete. As a label discography, this series of books covers an entire musical era with a comprehensiveness heretofore unattainable.

Description of Book

The three decades since 1947 have witnessed great and accelerating change in the popular music world. Jazz and swing dominated the forties; the fifties saw the rise of rhythm and blues and rock and roll. With the sixties came English rock and American soul music, and the seventies have become the age of disco. Atlantic Records has been a leader in recording the finest artists working in all these many genres. This four-volume discography is a complete guide to the records issued by this important company.

The nearly 40,000 recordings listed are arranged according to Atlantic's master numbering system; this divides the books into four chronological periods. Volume one extends from the beginnings of the Atlantic label in 1947 up to 1966. Many of the most famous names of the jazz and pop worlds of the 1950s and 1960s appear here: Ray Charles, John Coltrane, Herbie Mann, Otis Redding, Bobby Darin, and many others. Volume two, covering 1966 to 1970, follows the rise of rock. Atlantic artists listed here include The Bee Gees, Cream, and Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young, in addition to new jazz and gospel performers. The third volume, 1970 through

SAVOY LABEL: A Discography

This unique label discography, based on the files of Savoy Records, lists, chronologically, recording sessions in Detroit, New York, Los Angeles, and Atlanta. Full information on dates, personnel, matrix numbers, and unissued material is provided for sessions up through 1965. Data is also supplied for records purchased or leased by Savoy, including those on the Bop, Dee Gee, Discovery, National, Jewell, Hi-Lo, and Signal labels. Numerical listings of both singles and albums are also included.

Description of Book

For more than three decades, the name Savoy symbolized the finest in jazz, rhythm and blues, and gospel recordings. Beginning in 1939, this label featured some of the greatest artists of the era; jazz giants Charlie Parker, Cannonball Adderley, and Lester Young, bluesman Brownie McGhee, and gospel artists such as Marion Williams and James Cleveland all recorded for Savoy. Now there is a complete guide to every recording ever made at the Savoy studios: The Savoy Label.

1974, features Aretha Franklin, Roberta Flack, Eric Clapton, and The Rolling Stones. New names in volume four, which carries the Atlantic story up to 1978, include AC/DC, Average White Band, and The Manhattan Transfer. Most citations provide title and recording date, a listing of the personnel involved, and material recorded at the session but not issued.

PRESTIGE LABEL: A Discography

The Prestige Label is a complete listing of all recordings made or issued by Prestige Records from its founding in 1949 up to the present. This new edition updates the original volume, published in 1973. For jazz, blues, and gospel recordings, session data, arranged chronologically, is complete. Details on session personnel, recording dates, and the titles of the recorded numbers are all included. A separate section, providing numerical listings of all Prestige albums and singles, also includes folk releases on the label. Records cut at the Prestige studios and released on such subsidiary labels as Par, New Jazz, Bluesville, Moodsville, Swingville and Tru-Sound are catalogued. An index of artists is also provided.

Description of Book

Connoisseurs of jazz recognize Prestige Records as one of the most significant independent labels in the music's history. Some of the greatest sessions ever recorded were products of the Prestige studios, including John Coltrane's debut as a band leader, the first session by Lennie Tristano and Lee Konitz, and superb performances by Stan Getz, Miles Davis, Sonny Rollins, Thelonious Monk, and other giants of jazz. Many of the most influential performers of blues and gospel music also have recorded on the Prestige label.

Harold H. Hartel

from ed. LK:

Harold H. Hartel
55 Bane Street
Newton Falls Ohio 44444

The file is the brainchild chronological listing with concurring phonograph record matrix (master) numbering by HAROLD H. HARTEL who uses the abbreviated H 3 signet to authenticate himself. Harold has ingeniously 'ravished' the pages of Brian Rust's 4th edition, 8-volume, 1996 page compendium, JAZZ RECORDS 1897-1942. Harold has systematically selected the earliest JR entries in 11897, and has proceeded to carry the chronology (chrono) up through the years. In order to fully appreciate Harold's chrono-Matrix file it is imperative to have Rust's 2-volume set where the real concentrated documentation does lie. For those who do not have these 4th edition volumes -and would like to get them, please write to RR (send return sae or postcard) and we will give you a lead. Harold has also referred to another volume in his files -that being the Godrich-Dixon BLUES and GOSPEL work. Owing to the fact that this volume is now out-of-print, the original as well as the 2nd edition,-and that much of the material has been incorporated into Rust's 4th edition, the original B&G(BG) pages that Harold lists, serve only as a source chain to Rust's 4th edition of his JR.

Now for a brief explanation of H3 Chrono-Matrix files. Any underlined matrix number is presumed to be rejected (eg. Nov. 24, 1903, C-746-1). And if you see a hyphen in a column where the numerical of the date appears -that means that "during the month, definite date unknown" (eg. see April 1922 OM5 - Gypsy Blues 20139-2). There's a heck of a lot of abbreviations in the listing. The seasoned researcher will know most of them. Rust's JR volumes will certainly help, too!

PS..(LK note).. There is no BLACK PATTI 8000 listed in this advert

At last here's the BLACK PATTI label listing. To say that the label is very rare is definitely an understatement. In all our years of Record Research we were only able to pick up only one—and that's the test pressing. What a treasure! We will use the same rule of thumb which has been so successful in the Liberty Music Shop research. Henriksen's hand-written manuscript will be printed so it will give you all a scope of the project. Upon completion of his provisional listings we shall become more discriminate discographically by acknowledging known issues reported by our collecting fraternity. We will also share with you Gennett company ledger entries, photocopies of actual ledger pages where Black Patti issues were annotated. This will put you all up right in the forefront of all past research. In addition you will be treated to photographs and biographies where possible of various BP artists and labels—and of course including that "test" pressing in our possession. We ask our readers to check out their libraries for any written word having to do with the BP label. MORE! you will get more BP adverts like the one you see here. Please forgive us for the near disappearance of the release listing at the bottom. We can report that this initial Black Patti advert had 24 releases (8001 through 8024) for sale and you could order them through a coupon, COD via your mailman, for 75¢ each. As an ocular aid we advertently put the BP number next to each artist illustration for your immediate research reference. Henry and myself will serve you as a coordinating clearing house for all Black Patti label research. Please check out your collections and send us data. We have already received some good response which will be acknowledged in forthcoming installments. Back in May of 1925 we were considering running Henry's label listing—but we made a mutual decision to do the Black Patti biography first. At that time Henry wrote us an introductory which we shall use now to open his Black Patti numerical. Of interest is his un-answered letter to J. Mayo Williams in this preface.

"BLACK PATTI" Records

"The most beautifully designed label in all recording history"

compiled by Henry Henriksen, 3136 Pillsbury Ave. So., Minneapolis, Minn. 55408

March 20, 1925

It is almost a half century, 48 years to be exact, since the BLACK PATTI Record made its appearance among the many new labels of the "Roarin' Twenties."

J. Mayo Williams, founder of the BLACK PATTI label, was a famous talent scout for many of the "Race" Divisions of the major recording companies, and subsidiaries, also Paramount, Gennett and Vocalion including his own "The Chicago Record Co. of Chicago. He was in constant search for the Blues Singers, who recorded in the 20's and he was in contact with them at one time or another.

The BLACK PATTI record had a faulty distribution: similar to the Autograph Label and it is not surprising it lasted only 7 months. Even in an era of a great productive period of Blues and "RACE" instrumentals by Victor-Columbia-Brunswick-Vocalion-Gennett and Paramount—the competition by the "Big Six" of the early and middle 20's forced Black Swan and others into oblivion.

One must remember the Jazz situation in the 1920's. While 1927 was a peak year for Blues and instrumentals this music was the first to feel the pressure even prior to the stock market crash. The Blues and instrumentals were hard hit (1928 to 1931) — practically 5 years of the vast number of Race records produced virtually came to a standstill.

Across that period the Hillbilly and popular commercial bands took over. This has always been the backbone and big money in the record business.

Not long ago I wrote to J. Mayo Williams in Chicago and the registered letter was sent back to me "Unclaimed". What I wrote to him is as follows: (12/30/74)

Quote: "I know you were associated with Paramount and subsidiaries, also Gennett and I believe Vocalion and Decca, but my main concern is with your own "BLACK PATTI" label and your Chicago Record Company of 3621 So. State Street, Chicago, during the 1920's. Delving into research of the BLACK PATTI label, it appears the existence began about March 1927 to Sept. 1927 the last session. 55 records (110 sides) were recorded.

I have a few Black Patti records and as an Artist I can state it is perhaps the most beautiful designed label in all recording history. A masterpiece of art.

Also the selection of artists and instrumentalists Spirituals including a few Folk selections and Pipe Organ classics constitute a complete compact catalogue that leaves little left to desire.

If it were possible to re-issue the entire Black Patti catalogue on LP, it would, today, be a resounding success in this enlightened musical age. There is no question in my mind that Black Patti records are the rarest 78 rpm records that were ever waxed in America this century.

While the collecting connoisseur has heard a great deal about the Black Patti records it seems they would like to know more about the man who innovated this elusive and fabulous record "BLACK PATTI."

Your 55 records have been difficult to assemble for my numerical and in tracking down my remaining few records I appeal to you for any assistance you may give, either from listings or advertisements or from memory of that not so long ago day. Unquote

P.S.

In one more page I discussed Records — Blues & Spirituals etc., and when I spent the middle 1920's working as an artist in Chicago in the Loop in the days of Johnny Dodds, Armstrong, Kelley's Stables and Dreamland.

I think this numerical with one missing Record #8051 could make an interesting search by your readers (if your own group has the answer). It can be the end to this search, as far as I can say. I may not have the entire minute detail but if I'm wrong in my Numerical — I want it corrected.

RAGGING the CLASSICS

JOHN SAM LEWIS

A WHISPER FROM THE PAST!

(cont'd from RR 187/8) JOSEPH JOACHIM Part Three (concluded)

JOSEPH JOACHIM - 1868
Photographed by Julia Margaret Cameron
(famous Victorian photographer)

Joachim and Brahms remained friends throughout most of their lives, but there was a period of estrangement owing to Joachim's divorce. Brahms sided with Madame Joachim, so for a period the two men were at odds. The quarrel, however, was patched up when Brahms offered first performance rights to his Violin and Cello Concerto to Joachim who accepted. Brahms dedicated the "Double Concerto" to his old friend, as he had earlier dedicated the Violin Concerto, and Joachim and Brahms performed the work with Robert Hausmann as solo cellist.

Brahms had turned to Joachim for advice while composing his violin concerto. Joachim recommended phrasings and bowings and composed cadenzas for the concerto that still remain standard for most violinists. Joachim also composed cadenzas for Mozart's concerti that are still widely used. Later Dvořák also turned to Joachim for help with his violin concerto, and like Brahms Dvořák dedicated his concerto to Joachim, who again was the first performer. In addition, Joachim transcribed six of Brahms' Hungarian Dances for violin and piano, and these six transcriptions still remain standard today, though other violinists have transcribed the remaining dances.

All in all, Joachim is an extremely important figure both historically and musically. As a composer he seems to have suffered from the same longwindedness that afflicted most mid- and late-nineteenth century composers. The only work of his in the Schwann Catalog now, the "Hungarian Concerto," played by Aaron Rosand, with the Radio Luxembourg Orchestra conducted by Siegfried Köhler, is heavily cut, but even with the cuts the performance amounts to more than 32 minutes. There is another performance of the work listed in Schwann by Charles Treger and the Louisville Orchestra conducted by Jorge Mester that I have not heard. How many cuts, if any, the Treger performance has I don't know.

Joachim was universally regarded as the greatest violinist of the second half of the 19th Century. He was not the flamboyant performer that his predecessor, Paganini had been (and Joachim's compositions show none of Paganini's vulgarity) or that Sarasate (his chief rival) was. Thanks to recordings, we can tell something about what kind of players Joachim, Sarasate, Ysaye, Burmester, and a few other early violinists were. How fortunate we are that these precious bits of shellac have survived.

When he was a boy, Joseph Szigeti was taken by his father to be audited by Joachim. Szigeti did not remember why, but he thought that his father had some doubts about Joachim, and therefore young Joseph was turned over to Jenő Hubay for violin instruction. One of the few silly things Szigeti says in his otherwise admirable autobiography, With Strings Attached (Second ed., New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1965), is that no famous violinist was taught by Joachim. Not only had Szigeti's own teacher, Jenő Hubay, studied with Joachim, but also Leopold Auer had worked with the master back in Hannover days. Other pupils of Joachim include Willy Hess and Henri Petri (the pianist Egon Petri's father), and among violinists who have left us recordings are Max Bild, Maud Powell, Charles Gregorovich (who died in a Soviet prison camp), Tivador Nachez, and Willy Burmester. From 1868 until his death in 1907 Joachim had been director of the Hochschule für Musik in Berlin, and had fostered the careers of many young artists. One was Arthur Rubinstein, who maintained that two men--both violinists--most profoundly shaped his musical thinking, Joseph Joachim and Eugen Ysaye. Joachim had seen to it that young Arthur received financial support while pursuing his studies in Berlin.

What does Joachim's violin playing sound like? I have never heard the Bach Bourrée or Joachim's Romance, but the recording of the Bach Preludio is like a whisper from the past. It is unlike any other performance of Bach I have ever heard. Joachim makes Bach sound almost like a contemporary of Brahms. One ought to remember that very few violinists in Joachim's day performed Bach in public, yet Joachim's student, Willy Burmester, who at the beginning of this century was the only major violinist whose repertory emphasized the pre-Romantics, plays Bach in a manner that seems somewhat less touched by Romanticism than Joachim's. The latter's Bach is decidedly an historic document.

The two Brahms pieces, on the other hand, seem very restrained. Actually, I detect some suggestion that Joachim might have had a touch of arthritis in his left hand, and at 72, his age when he recorded for G&T, the great violinist might well have been so afflicted. There is no sense of his playing to the gallery on any of the records. In fact, he achieves a sense of intimacy with all those pieces. It is as though Joachim knew these were to be historical documents someday, and he plays as though to one listener only.

In August of 1903, Joachim wrote the Gramophone Company concerning his recording activity. He mentions, among other things, having "experimented with the phonograph" with Werner von Siemens. It is a tantalizing remark. By "phonograph" Joachim almost certainly meant a cylinder machine. Could any of these cylinders have survived to the present day despite wars and accidents? Is it possible that someday another recording of Joachim's may someday surface? Could Joachim have been the earliest major violinist to have recorded after all?

John! Had some space left over so I inserted some further background data from Groves (vol. 4 H to K, page 643) which dovetails your information on Joe's Quartet (smiles!). Sometime ago I think Bob Colton or myself saw a Joachim Quartet on some very obscure European label. It could have been Russian or ????. Had a piece taken out of it. May have discarded it. - 22

JOACHIM QUARTET. A string-quartet team founded in Berlin by Joseph Joachim in 1869. As time went on various changes had to be made in its constitution; but Joachim as leader remained constant. His colleagues were invariably chosen from among those artists who, besides possessing technical mastery of their instruments, were in sympathy with the artistic ideals associated with his name. What these changes were is set forth in the following table:

1st violin:	Joseph Joachim, 1869-1907.
and violin:	Ernst Schliever, 1869-72.
	Heinrich de Ahna, 1872-92.
	Johann Kruse, 1892-97.
	Karel Halit, 1897-1907.
Viola:	Heinrich de Ahna, 1869-72.
	Eduard Rappoldt, 1872-77.
	Emanuel Wirth, 1877-1907.
Cello:	Wilhelm Müller, 1869-79.
	Robert Hausmann, 1879-1907.

Beginning in 1869, annual series of concerts were given by the Joachim Quartet in Berlin. Annual visits to Vienna, besides frequent performances in the leading German towns, in Budapest, London and provinces, Paris, Rome, followed. In Germany no musical festival of importance was considered complete without their presence. They took part regularly in the Meiningen Festivals and in those held at Bonn (in the Beethoven house). At Zwickau on the occasion of the unveiling of the Robert Schumann memorial they were also present. In the spring of 1905 they visited Rome, giving all the Beethoven quartets in the Farnese Palace.

The Quartet, as such, did not visit England till 1900. The first concert was given at St. James's Hall on 25 Apr. In 1905 they gave two series of concerts in Bechstein Hall. The next year they gave a complete series (Queen's Hall) of Brahms' chamber music. In one instance only a work from the pen of a living composer was given, the string Quintet, Op. 86, by Stanford, with Alfred Gibson as second viola. In Berlin their programmes were a little more eclectic in character, the romantic as well as the classic element being represented. Dvořák's name appeared frequently, but one looked in vain for examples of the French, Belgian, Russian or Scandinavian schools.

Each of the members of the quartet possessed a Stradivari of the best period, and therefore the tone produced, besides being pure, was homogeneous in all the parts.

RHYTHM & BLUES RESEARCH

Anthony Rotante - Paul Sheatsley

You may not believe it but we were so skeptical at the time that we gave away issue no. 1 free! with a concurrent RR issue of that period. Little did we know that R&B, R&R, vocal groups, etc. discographical research would become such a powerful vehicle in the years to come. A whole new generation of collectors and researchers came into being. Needless to say our Blues Research publications caught on until we have only 5 of the 17 left. We are thinking of reissuing 'em. BR1 which we gave away free is now one of the most sought after collector items. With the re-introduction of this column we are privileged to have two guest contributors in the persons of KURT MOHR. (also like Rotante a pioneering researcher and statistician) and his contemporary, PIERRE DAGUERRE, who is not an astute research specialist on his own - but also is responsible for sorting out Kurt's vast research archives. Pierre has sent us Kurt's SUE with its SYMBOL and CRACKERJACK label adjuncts listings. In addition Pierre has presented us with his own discography of the fine gal vocal group, The BOBBETTES, with Kurt's very timely Atlantic session personnel included. Thank you, Gentlemen! /L. Kunstadt... All correspondence (corrections, additions, etc.) should be sent to PIERRE DAGUERRE, 84470 TARDETS, FRANCE..

Ex-1

Since the additions and corrections for Rust's DANCE BAND DISCOGRAPHY have started to be printed in Record Research, much more new information has come to me. A large amount on the Sam Lanin section came from E.M. Silvestri in Argentina, and information that neither he nor I had come from Stuart Williamson in Iowa and Steve Hester in Michigan. Rather than continue in numerical sequence, I will insert this new information here, with hearty thanks to these collectors.

I generally have not listed which takes appeared on which issues when several different labels are involved for one master, as most of the time when they are reported to me, they are different from one in my possession. That is not to say that all takes can be found on all issues, but listing them separately only opens the door to countless more revisions when other takes appear on a certain label.

DIGGIN' THE GROOVES

BOB DAVENPORT

Regular readers of this column in RR will recall that I have used the expression "feast or famine" several times in reference to the release of reissue LP's. Well, this is going to be a "feast" edition, and because of that, and the space allotted me, it's impossible to give in-depth reviews of all of the items that have come my way since last I wrote. Readers, and manufacturers, please accept my apologies!

First off there is that huge, but always delightful, Fall release from Hindsight. (P.O. Box 7114-R, Burbank, Ca 91510). In order, they are: HSR-163 Sammy Kaye & His Orch., Vol. 2, 1944-46. HSR-164, Skinnay Ennis & His Orch., 1946-48. HSR-165, Jimmy Dorsey Orch., Vol. 3, 1949, 1951. HSR-166, Joe Reichman & His Orch., 1944-49. HSR-167, Alvino Rey & His Orch., Vol. 2, 1946. HSR-168, The King Sisters with Frank DeVol's Orch., 1947. HSR-169, Freddy Martin & His Orch., Vol. 2, 1944-46. HSR-170, Art Kassel & His Orch., Vol. 2, 1945. HSR-171, Chuck Foster & His Orch., Vol. 2, 1938-39. HSR-172, Hal McIntyre & His Orch., 1943-46. HSR-173, Billy Butterfield & His Orch., 1946. HSR-174, Sonny Burke & His Orch., 1951. HSR-175, Griff Williams & His Orch., 1946, 1951. HSR-176, Artie Shaw & His Orch., Vol. 5, 1938-39. HSR-177, Jimmie Grier & His Orch., 1935-36.

All of these have the usual fine combinations of good, crisp instrumentals, and many of your favorite vocalists are featured as well. The transference from electrical transcriptions to LP is excellent as always, and Hindsight has a new catalog with all of the details which you can get by writing to the address given above.

Frank Donovan at Golden Era has an exciting new release, especially for you jazz fans. Firstly there is G.E. LP-15068, featuring an interesting Ted Lewis item from the 40's and early 50's. Then 4 items on his Vantage label, leading off with LP-508, "Stan Getz & The Big Bands of Europe. On LP-509, the great but unrewarded "Stuff Smith & His Quartet, Blues In G", which was recorded in 1965. Followed by LP-510, "Ben Webster & His Quartet In a Mellow Tone" from the late 60's. And lastly, LP-511, from the 1948-49 period, "Charlie Parker Groovin' High". - - - For further info. write to West Coast Audio Visual Corp., Box 126, Reseda, Ca 91335.

Alan Roberts at Sunbeam doesn't issue too many releases a year, but when he does they are super! (Sunbeam, 13821 Calvert St., Van Nuys, Ca 91401). On HB-322 we find the fine Dick Jurgens band from the 1937-40 period, and featuring the late Eddy Howard on all vocals but one, which features Harry Cool. By the way, I spent a delightful evening with Ronnie Kemper of this band a while back in Sacramento, where he's still performing. And then, on HB-323 Alan has given us a Griff Williams reissue from the 1940-41 period, which I like a little better than the Hindsight because it features the ebullient vocalist, Buddy Moreno on several numbers.

Jazz Archives (333 West 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10019) recently sent me "Bechet, Bunk and Boston 1945", which is a classic. But then these guys always did perform classic jazz!

Very interesting item on Broadway BR-107 (P.O. Box 244, Milford, Michigan 48042) for all readers interested in the old paper Hit-of-The-Week records. A good job was done in getting those curly things onto LP, and it contains a potpourri of H-O-T-W artists.

Some time ago I received two LP's from Italy, of all places! (Write to: L'Orsa Maggiore, S.R.L., Via Rovigno n. 11, 20132, Milano Italy). On Jazz Supreme JS-701 we find "Live at the Hollywood Palladium 1951, Vol. 1" featuring Woody Herman, and it's a gas! On Manhattan Jazz Man. 504, called "This Is Jazz" Vol. 2 from a 1947 broadcast featuring Wild Bill Davison, Albert Nicholas, James P. Johnson, Pops Foster, Baby Dodds, and guests Alberta Price and Leadbelly. Quite an item!

Now let's move on to the new Bluebirds from RCA: AXM2-5579 is "The Complete Artie Shaw, Vol. VI, 1942-45" and just super Shaw, as is AXM2-5580, "The Complete Artie Shaw, Vol. VII, 1939-45 Retrospective". Then on AXM2-5581 is "The Complete Charlie Barnet, Vol. 3, 1939-40", and one forgets how great this band was until items like this come along! Finally, on AXM2-5582, another TD item, "The Complete Tommy Dorsey, Vol. VII, 1938" with vocals by Jack Leonard, Eddythe Wright, Skeets Herfurt, and The Three Esquires.

Also from RCA, AHL1-2347, "Elvis" Greatest Hits, Vol. 1, but not the old Elvis! However, there are a couple of rare live shots previously unreleased which will be good news to the Elvis fans. And, if you ever wondered whatever happen to the Chipmunks, wonder no longer because Alvin, Simon and Theodore appeared on AOL1-4041 with a delightful Christmas album, although by the time you read this it'll be too late for Xmas '81!

Joyce Music Corp. (Box 1707, Zephyrhills, FL 33599) continue to add to their ever-growing catalog. Let's first look at their "Complete In Disco Order" series: Ajaz 266 is Claude Thornhill & His Orch., Vol. 9, 1947-49. Ajaz 267 is Jimmy Dorsey & His Orch., Vol. 21, 1942. Ajaz 268 is Bob Crosby & His Orch., Vol. 15, 1940 and Ajaz 269 is Count Basie, Vol. 16, 1946-47. Then on Joyce 6007, Dolores O'Neill with Bob Chester's band from 1940 in the "Big Band's Greatest Vocalists" series. Also from this series is Joyce 6003 featuring Bea Wain with the Larry Clinton band from 1937-38, and Joyce 6006, Dick Haymes with the Harry James band 1940-41. (Dick was always one of my favorite "boy" singers with the big bands).

On the "One Night Stand" series there are three items to report on in this issue: Joyce 1087 is "Concert In Miniature Nos. 9 & 10" and Joyce 1090 is "Concert In Miniature, Nos. 11 & 12", both from 1952, and both featuring the big Stan Kenton band. Joyce 1091 takes us back to the 1938 era, and features one of the better of the big bands, Larry Clinton, with Bea Wain and Dick Todd (!) heard vocally.

On the contemporary jazz scene, three new items from Progressive Records (P.O. Box 500, Tifton, Ga 31794), leading off with 2009 "Music's the Only Thing On My Mind" featuring Jimmy Rowles and George Mraz. Jimmy has a way with a song that's different. 2040 stars Harold Ashby and his big sounding tenor in some tasty jazz, while 2056 is titled "The Explosive Dorothy Donegan", and well titled! She really pounds those 88's!

Information on my custom taping service can be had by writing to me at 221 Prune Tree Dr., Healdsburg, Ca 95448, as well as your comments (always appreciated) and your questions. But, please, a S.A.S.?

JAZZ

A History of the New York Scene

New Foreword by
SAMUEL B. CHARTERS

DA CAPO PRESS • NEW YORK • 1981

Yes! Folks! It's out again after quite a hiatus. When Doubleday put out the original hard cover edition in 1962, it went very fast, right down to the very last copy on the Garden City N.Y. plant shelves! Why Doubleday never went ahead with a paper back is beyond me - but a paper back did come out in Brazil if you read Portuguese (smiles!). The original is now very rare and I have had so many requests which unfortunately I could not honor. But now we have the DaCapo reprint, a new foreword by Sam and a few corrections and addenda by yours truly (cheers!) $30. post paid. Remit to Len Kunstadt. He promises an autograph!
